

Growing your Own Organic Vegetable Garden

A workshop series with Certified Master Gardener Adam Weiss,

These classes will allow you to grow and eat your own organic vegetables!!

Session 1 - Saturday, April 24th 1:30-3:30 p.m.

- How to create your vegetable garden beds or prepare your existing ones for the upcoming planting season
- Raised beds versus flat beds? Do I need soil and fertilizer? Do my plants prefer sun or shade?
- What is PH and how to test your soil – (Good soil makes good harvest!)
- What, how, and where to plant
- Planting your cold weather crops and making them grow!

Seeds to include; Arugula, Renegade Spinach, Detroit Red Beets, Napoli Carrots and Sugar Ann Peas

Session 2 - Saturday, May 15th- 1:30-3:30 p.m.

- Companion Planting and Succession Planting
- How much is enough water?
- How to start your own composting bins
- Those pains in the ! Pests and how to control weeds

Plants to include: Assorted Head Lettuces, Swiss Chard, Kale, and Early Wonder Broccoli

Session 3 - Saturday, June 5th - 1:30-3:30 p.m.

- Planting your summer crops
- Harvesting your bounty and not being a premature picker!
- How to get a second season of vegetables
- Planting garlic in the fall

Plants to include: Assorted Heirloom Tomatoes, Yellow and Red Peppers, Japanese Eggplant, and Pickling Cucumbers

3 Session Workshop Series $125.00

Individual Session $50.00

Includes Handouts, Vegetable Seeds and Actual Plants!

To register for classes, contact:

Adam Weiss

Pike Lane Gardens

Woodstock, New York

845-679-0551

info@pikebb.com